AT LAST.

GUILD SOCIALISM HAS CHANCE TO PROVE MERIT.

LONDON, June 5.
Attempts to cope with the serious housing problem have resulted in an interesting experiment being made in London and Manchester, in an application of guild socialism which it is believed, is destined to revolutionise completely industrial control under the system. The trade union ticket is a certificate of membership of the guild, which is designed to mobilise the necessary labour and eventually undertake all branches of the building industry, supplying skilled architects and engineers, carrying on all necessary and desirable public and private work. The labour of a guildsman will no longer be a marketable commodity but the guildsman will be "On the strength" for life. It is anticipated that the guild will be able to increase the purchasing power of its members' pay by scientific organisation and production. Discussions have been proceeding with the Ministry of Health with reference to the percentage of cost allowable for management. This is now settled on a basis of six per cent. in addition to the remuneration of £40 per house payable by the local authority.

U. S. AND G. B.

PRESIDENT AND KING.

LONDON, June 6.
President Wilson telegraphed to King George his birthday congratulations: "I am confident it auspiciously comes at the dawn of a new era of friendship and goodwill which it will be the privilege of our kindred peoples to advance towards full achievement." The King replied most cordially: "I echo the hope that in the struggle to create a better world for mankind, which is the first duty bequeathed to us by the glorious comradeship of war, our two nations may be found indissolubly linked alike in effort and achievements."

AMERICAN PASSENGER SERVICE.

NEW YORK, June 3.
The United Mail Steamship Company, which has leased thirteen ex-German passenger steamers for trans-oceanic service will be entirely American. The passenger service begins in July from New York to Southampton, Cherbourg, Bremen and Danzig and from Boston to Queens-town.

THE LATE DR. MORRISON.

LONDON, June 3.
The funeral of Doctor Morrison took place at Sidmouth. The service was conducted by the Vicar of Sidmouth, who paid tribute to Dr. Morrison's memory, especially mentioning his enthusiastic support of foreign missions of the Church. The mourners included Mrs. Morrison and her three sons, the Chinese Minister in London, Sir John Jordan, Sir Richard Dane and Sir Ernest Sartou, representatives of the foreign Office, the "Times," and the High Commissioner of Australia. Floral tributes included a wreath of orchids from the President of the Chinese Republic "in sorrow and gratitude."

AMERICAN SHIPPING.

WASHINGTON, June 3.
The Merchant Marine Bill permits the sale of American ships to foreign buyers if after a diligent search the Shipping Board is unable to dispose of them to Americans. It also requires 75 per cent of the stock of companies engaged in coastwise trade to be American-owned, also the stock companies engaged in foreign commerce. No time limit is fixed for the disposal of ships. American buyers are given fifteen years and foreigners ten years to complete payments. Foreigners will pay 5 and Americans 6 per cent interest to the Shipping Board. The price must equal the cost of production at the time of sale less depreciation.

HOUSING.

LONDON, June 5.
The inter-national housing congress has adopted a resolution demanding a minimum standard of comfort in the home. With reference to town planning, a resolution was adopted advocating a definite limitation of the number of dwellings per acre, not exceeding ten in the decentralisation industries.

BRITAIN AND OIL.

LONDON, June 5.
Sir John Cadman, director of the petroleum executive, lecturing on the British empire's oil resources, dealt specifically with the question of Mesopotamia, which he said, "offered great possibilities for the prospector." Regarding the American impression that it was Britain's intention to attempt to corner the world's oil supply, he pointed out that it was not Britain's policy to exclude foreign participation in the British oil enterprise. Such like regulations were merely legitimate war-time measures. The British empire's contribution to the world's oil was large. We were not only the greatest producer but we were absorbing more and more of our own supply. Consequently it was increasingly difficult to supply this and other countries. It therefore behoved Britain to find another source to supply her demands.

NO TAX ON WAR WEALTH.

LONDON, June 4.
It is understood the government has definitely decided to abandon the idea of a levy on war wealth. It is expected that Mr. Chamberlain will announce this decision on Monday.

PERSIA.

LONDON, June 4.
It is officially reported that at the request of the Persian government the Council of the League of Nations has been convened to meet in London on June 11, to discuss to situation created by the action of the Soviet forces in Persia. Prince Firouz has been appointed special representative of Persia to attend the council. Firouz declared that the Shah arrived at Teheran on June 3, whereupon 300,000 participated in great popular demonstrations, evidencing loyalty to the Shah and satisfaction with the government.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

BOLSHEVIST INVASION OF

LONDON, June 4th.
The Associated Press correspondent at Constantinople, in a telegram of June 2nd, states that the Persian Legation learns that Bolsheviks have entered Teheran.
LONDON, June 4th.
Persian official sources inform Reuter that the report of the Bolshevik occupation of Teheran is totally untrue. A telegram received in London to-day, dated yesterday, mentions no Bolshevik advance from the coast.

THE KRASSIN MISSION.

LONDON, June 4th.
It is understood that a special Cabinet meeting last evening discussed the policy in regard to the Krassin Mission. The situation is described as distinctly perplexed.
To-day's meeting of the permanent committee of the Supreme Economic Council has been postponed until Monday at the instance of the British Government, owing to the necessity of a Cabinet consultation. It is assumed that an unforeseen contingency has arisen.
A Brussels paper learns that M. Krassin has deposited £1,000,000 in a large London bank.

WASHINGTON, June 4th.

The State Department has refused to grant passports enabling a Commission of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States to go to Russia to study the question of resumption of trade.
The officials explain that, despite the negotiations between M. Krassin and other countries, the policy of the United States Government, regarding trade with Russia, is unchanged, and it will not necessarily be influenced, even should Great Britain modify her attitude. It is not expected, however, that the State Department will oppose the proposed visit of the Commission to Europe to study resumption of trade with Russia.

EMPIRE'S SHIPPING.

LONDON, June 4th.
The Times states that the Government has decided to carry out the resolution of the last Imperial Conference by immediately appointing an Imperial Shipping Committee, consisting of representatives of the Dominions and the Colonial and India Offices, the Board of Trade and shipping interests, with a neutral chairman, to survey the whole question of Empire shipping communications, hear complaints of the lack of facilities and suggestions for improving them and devise a scheme by which inter-Imperial communication may be maintained most efficiently.

THE CHINESE IN BURMA

The members of no Christian denomination in Burma are such literal exponents as are the Chinese of the Biblical precept "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." Anyone walking through the business quarter of Rangoon, or any town in Burma, will see them hard at work even in the early mornings and at hours
which most of the other nationalities devote to relaxation. The Chinaman seems to be satisfied with two or three days holiday in twelve months
on the celebration of his New Year.
At other times, except when taking his meals he will generally be found working, and to derive as much pleasure from it as an Englishman
when joining in some favourable game. People of other nationalities often from six to eight in the twenty-four. To the Chinaman man working hours seem to be synonymous with waking hours,
always of course provided he is working for his own advantage and not for a master. Burmese are better exponents of another well known maxim, "Moderation in all things." The bulk of the Burman population is agricultural, and they work excessively hard and often under disagreeable conditions, for about four months in the year, but they do but little of hard work in the remaining eight months. In the April number of the *Rangoon
Chronicle* amongst other interesting matter there appears a letter from a correspondent deprecating Chinese immigration into Burma, mainly on the ground that they are monopolising the rural trade of the province. The writer frankly acknowledges the Chinaman's characteristic for hard and constant work, and thinks this is "to the great disad-vantage of the average Burman ruralist." There are of course two ways of looking at it, and many people might think that the Chi-naman in Burma was setting a good example to the Burmese, who though they possess many admirable qualities are somewhat prone to lethargy
and would prefer constant amusement to constant work. The correspondent gives no hint of how he would propose to prevent the immigration to Burma of the subject of a friendly and allied nation even if their presence here was objectionable.
The Chinaman is by no means fault-

CAPTAIN FRYATT'S SHIP.

THE BRUSSELS RETURN TO ENGLAND.

The steamship "Brussels" was the centre of a brilliant ceremony at Antwerp and it may not be long now
before she is once more on her old North Sea run. The heroic and tragic adventure of Capt. Fryatt and his crew on board the steamer received its last honours when,
amidst a large crowd, the "Brussels"
was handed over by the Belgian Minister of Marine to the British Government. The ceremony took place at quays Nos. 22 and 23 in the Antwerp docks, and England was represented by Sir Francis Villiers,
the British Ambassador in Brussels, and naval officers on board the cruiser "Dragon." The well-known story, now a part of British sea history, of Capt. Fryatt's fights with German submarines, and his tragic and heroic death at the hands of the Huns after a mock trial, was told by Monsieur Pouillet, the Belgian Minister of Marine, and as he performed the ceremony of handing over the ship to the British Ambassador, the Belgian flag took its place at the masthead.

Monsieur A. C. Pain, the Belgian agent for the Great Eastern Railway,
the original owners of the "Brussels",
received a posthumous decoration for Capt. Fryatt from the Belgian Government.

less. He is often a gambler, and often a clever smuggler, and a breaker of our excise rules and regulations. But without any wish to extenuate any of his failings, it may be said that he is one of the most valuable immigrants we get in Burma, that his good qualities make up for many of his deficiencies,
and that it would be a matter for regret if he was in any way discouraged from coming here, where one of our greatest wants is population. We owe it largely to Chinese labour that Tavoy at the time of the armistice was the largest exporter of wolfram
of any British possession throughout the world and the Allied possession of wolfram was one of the factors which helped to bring about our victory over our enemies. Some of the Chinese secret societies no doubt tend to bring about disorder and bloodshed. The victims hitherto have been only Chinese, and people of other races have not been molested. A few well-known bad characters have had to be deported from Burma, and the police of the Straits Settlements and Burma are better acquainted now with dangerous men than they ever were before, and therefore in a better position to deal with offenders.—
Rangoon Gazette.

HOUSES FIRST AND LAST.

ABSOLUTE BAN ON COMMERCIAL BUILDING.

A bombshell has fallen among the large firms in London who have begun, or have in view, the construction of buildings. Notice that building will have to cease has already been received from the London
County Council by several firms engaged in alterations or rebuilding
of their premises. Messrs. Harrods, Swan and Edgar, Peter Robinson, and Liberty are in this position.
The service of this notice, said an official of the Ministry of Health to a Daily Express representative, lies at the discretion of the local authorities.
They are empowered by Section 5 of the Housing (Additional Powers) Act, 1919, to stop any building, containing or in the course of construction which may cause a shortage of labour
or material for the provision of dwelling accommodation.
Everywhere these notices are regarded with consternation.
Mr. Hannon, of Messrs. Holland, Hannon, and Cubitt, pointed out that it is not simply a question of the stoppage of "luxury building." We have in London at the present moment, he said, building contracts
to the value of £20,000,000, apart from our housing contracts. If these are stopped the result will be absolute chaos. The authorities may find 40 per cent. of our labour of use in building houses, but at least 60 per cent. will be thrown out of employment. Then there is the question of the large amount of capital that will be locked up in work that has ceased for an indefinite period.
Mr. John W. Simpson, president of the Royal Institute of British Architects, said:—"The Ministry of Health have the 'wind up,' and are simply going from bad to worse. Dr.
Addison warned us when he spoke at the Building Trades Exhibition that we should have to be prepared for a considerable reduction in
"luxury building," but he led us to believe that this reduction applied almost entirely to cinemas. We naturally did not feel that, if this was so, we could raise any serious objection. Now we are in a very different position. Labour is, I am afraid, most apathetic concerning the whole business, and, without its support, our position is not as strong as we should like. Any building that is valued up to £1,000 can, at the moment, safely be started, but it is not wise to go above that amount.

DARTMOOR GLASS.

NEW INDUSTRIAL CENTRE IN PROSPECT.

While South Devon is awaiting with interest the development of the plans of the Wilson Syndicate, which promise to transform the neighbourhood of Newton Abbot into an industrial centre, there is a prospect that changes scarcely less important may take place on the northern borders of Dartmoor. Near Okehampton there has been discovered a very large deposit of granulate, a material of the first importance in the manufacture of glass. According to expert report, granulate contains not only silica, but potash, soda, and alumina, which are necessary in glass making, and its use is not only economical but gives the best results in the production of glass ware of the highest quality.

The site of the discovery is familiar to travellers into Devon by the London and South-Western railway. A mile or two west of Okehampton the line crosses a narrow valley by a very high viaduct. In this valley a certain amount of quarrying has been carried on by a local company, which has earned modest dividends by crushing granulate and exporting it to Staffordshire, where it is used in enamelling porcelain. The company seems to have been aware of the value of the material to the glass trade, but they have not been able to induce manufacturers to take it up. A syndicate is now about to erect works and use the material on the spot. An experimental furnace has been in use for some time, two large furnaces are being built, and it is expected that the manufacture of glass on a commercial scale will begin almost immediately.

The promoters place their hopes high. There is said to be a practically unlimited supply of granulate in the valley. If the anticipations are realised this Dartmoor valley will become the seat of a great industry. Glass bottles and glass jars, it is said, will be made cheaper here than anywhere in the world, and the makers will be in a position not only to defy the competition of Austrian and German and other foreign manufacturers, but to meet them on favourable terms in the neutral markets of the world. Such expectations as this seem to be founded on an estimate that the cost of the material used on the spot will be only 15s. a ton, whereas the cost of the cheapest mixtures ordinarily used in the manufacture of bottles is at least 22 per ton. Granulate is reported upon as being especially suitable for the manufacture of cast and pressed glass articles, and for window glass. It is of value in the manufacture of enamelled metal ware, and electrical non-conducting articles can be made from it, instead of from earthenware. Even the waste heaps of the present quarry can, it is said, be turned to account, for black stone, which was considered only suitable for road metal, is also suitable for making beer and stout bottles.

Some difficulty seems likely to be experienced at the outset in regard to the provision of labour. No houses are available in the district, so that any large influx of population is not to be expected. What appears to be contemplated is that, to begin with, young unskilled men shall be engaged in the locality and trained to the work. At present there is only a small number of specialists engaged, and as the industry has hitherto been mainly in foreign hands, it is not surprising that most of these are foreigners. Power for driving the necessary machinery will be obtained from the River Ockment, running through the valley. This is a typical Devon stream, and it is calculated that it may easily be made to give the equivalent of 200 horsepower, which is fully as much as will be needed.

YARNS OF THE SEA.

It is said that when old soldiers meet they always like to fight their battles over again, and that would appear to apply equally to the seafaring element, who also enjoy the sailing of their voyages over again. A very conclusive proof of this was shown during this week by a gathering of nearly a dozen sons of Neptune, who pervaded the Gower Hotel in London with a very refreshing breath of the briny. These men were all ex-shipmasters, they having been in command of all classes of vessels, from sailing ships to passenger liners and tramp steamers. They had come from different parts of the country as representatives of their seafaring brothers for the purpose of keeping guard over their interests in their absence by attending the general meeting of the National Maritime Board, the navigating officers' panel, and the Seafarers' Joint Council. They had taken up their quarters at the Gower Hotel, Easton-road, as being a very comfortable and convenient headquarters, the majority having used this hotel for a number of years. The other visitors evidently enjoyed the breezy discussion and the yarns of the sea that were so freely diffused around the lounge, billiard room, &c. On the Wednesday evening it was pleasing to note the happy and gratified feelings of these old salts at the knowledge that during the day they had secured the concession from the shipowners, that the War Bonus, which was introduced as a temporary war measure, was for the future to be merged in the standard rate of pay, thus adding £3 a month to every man's pay throughout the Merchant Service. Many of these old skippers were heard to say they were sorry they went to sea so early, for if they had not done so they would have now been participating in the more equitable rates of pay instead of the ridiculous pirance they had received during their sea services. Envy did not enter in the case, but only satisfaction that the followers in their profession were at last receiving their just due.

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE"

HONGKONG, MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1920.

RISE OF KOWLOON.

Down at Penang it seems that the "interests" have been worrying about the effect on property values of the rise of Prai, a place on the opposite mainland that stands in almost exactly the same relations to Penang that Kowloon does to Hongkong. It is a railway terminus, and it has docks, and is connected by a harbour ferry service. The Straits Echo editor, who was recently in Hongkong, noticed the parallel, and writes: "In order to form a fairly accurate estimate of the effect which the rise of Prai is likely to have upon Penang it is not necessary to look further afield than Hongkong, where, upwards of a score of years ago, the Government's decision to expedite the development of the neighbouring Kowloon Peninsula, and foster trade with South and Central China by the construction of a connecting link with the Hankow-Canton Railway, gave rise to just such opposition and fallacious reasoning as greeted the intimation, a few months ago, that steps had been taken by the Straits authorities to push forward the development of Prai with a view to converting it into an important trading centre as speedily as possible." After describing for his readers the geography of this Colony, and referring to our ferry services as "a credit to the Colony and very valuable aids to trade," he goes on to say that "when the Government's decision was announced to the nation of Hongkong all sorts of mischievous and extraordinary stories were put into circulation by wealthy people having great vested interests in the city of Victoria and its vicinity. It was said that the rise of Kowloon would synchronize with the ruin of Victoria; that for a decade at least the railway to London would prove a 'white elephant,' which it would be unfair to compel the taxpayers to finance; that the value of house property would soon slump to zero; that the rise of the colony would be very seriously affected, and that while it might possibly benefit a few it would certainly cause a disturbance of commercial and industrial conditions that might prove absolutely disastrous. As a matter of fact, so far from the Canton-Hankow Railway adversely affecting the inhabitants of Hongkong and the Peninsula the exact reverse has been the case: the trade of the port has increased enormously during the last ten years, the population has grown, rents are sky-high, the Kowloon Peninsula, a sparsely populated district when the railway was opened, has become a flourishing suburb and popular residential area with wharves, docks, warehouses, excellent roads and the best golf links in South China. In a word, the croakings of 'vested interests,' to which the general public attached a good deal of credence at one time, have served only to accentuate the good judgment and perspicacity of those who pinned their faith to the Government's assurances, that the prospects of the dependency must be improved through provision in due season of means for great, and possibly rapid, expansion of the trade and industries of the colony as a whole."

ADVERSARIA.

We do not want the SHIRTS OF China Mail to get a reputation for prudery, so we call attention ourselves to a telegram on the front page on Friday, relating to a strike. It said the strike was over "the three-shift system." It should, of course, have read "the three-shift system." Now, it is quite true that a shift is a shift, or any other garment that is "shifted," but it was no coy reluctance to use the intimate, feminine word that made our printer get his shirt out. It was, as it happens, a common misprint, which might have easily looked worse. It did no harm. It misled nobody. It amused some. So we need not open the office safe in which we keep our apologies.

Somewhere in the Isle of Wight we came across a locked churchyard with a hypocritical notice about the flowers, birds, etc., inside belonging to God. We noticed that the thrifty person was growing strawberries there, and that he had put nets to prevent God's birds pecking God's strawberries. In this connection John Selden (circa 1600) offers a happy argument. "This ridiculous," says he, "to say the tithes are God's part, and therefore the clergy must have them. Why, so they are if one of my Lady Kent's maids should be sweeping this room, and another of them should come and take away the broom, and tell her for a reason she should part with it, 'tis my lady's broom'—as if it were not my lady's broom which of them soever had it."

Apparently a taste for blood does not always exclude a sense of humour, for a London message says that, at Moscow on Friday the Communist Conference decided to award the Order of the Red Flag to M. Clemenceau and Mr. Winston Churchill, in recognition of the great work they have done in the cause of international revolution.

Members of the ONION CLUB. Onion Club are notified that the next odour will be held at Lodge Delta, on Lantau. Carry something white when crossing the beach. Date and time as usual.

Hongkong is getting a bad name for earthquakes, and it really doesn't deserve it. Any seismologist who has been a little on the spot, though the emotions of those who felt it were big enough. When the earth dragon is mauling it shakes itself, and we cooties crawling on its back are excited. The real quiver may be away up near the shoulders, and we, down towards the tail, get only a sort of echo of it. John Milne of Japan and the Isle of Wight taught the world more about earthquakes than all his predecessors put together.

Readers of the China Mail will be glad to hear that the Grand Variety Performance to be given in the Theatre Royal on Thursday next by a Coherent Party from H.M.S. Titania. The purpose of the show is stated to be to aid the Seamen's Institute, but, to tell the truth, there is far more behind it than that. A complaint frequently made about Hongkong by seafarers either stationed here or passing through is that there is so little to do in the evenings, and it is because of this that such places as the Seamen's Institute are always so glad of help in the way of concerts and similar entertainments. But anyone who has tried it knows how much greater pleasure it is to amuse than to be amused, and those responsible for or interested in the welfare of seamen ashore and afloat realise this, and are doing their utmost to find something in the way of pastimes for the men to do rather than something to be done to or for them. The organising of musical performances of various kinds is a popular pastime with all seamen, and if the sailor is convinced that it is worth it, he will go to any amount of trouble to put up a really good show. We understand that the Pharies are not the ship's Concert party, but just a few men from the Titania of considerable talent and boundless enthusiasm, who have already given two or three most successful performances, and are now aiming high, on the theory of "nothing ventured, nothing won." The success of this venture will be a great encouragement both to the Pharies themselves and also to those interested in similar concerns, and should result in the winter months in friendly rivalry among the Concert Parties of H.M. Ships on the China Station and increased amusement both for the men themselves and also for the residents of Hongkong. We therefore appeal to the people of Victoria and Kowloon to back up to the full this plucky endeavour, for if hard work and real talent, when coupled together, mean anything, the Pharies have done and are doing their best to achieve success, and the rest lies with those who come to be amused. So step up, Hongkong, and fill the Hall. Heads, you win; tails, you cannot lose.

The Adversaria, de-fied up. spairing of the fact supply in Hongkong, no more sure of anything, told this and told that, believing this and that, learning later that this or that was a crammer or a distortion or a misunderstanding, hopeless, disgusted, fed up, requires employment which will not bring him into contact with the dam public. Will somebody please start a brewery, and give him the job of beer watcher? He is absolutely honest where money is not concerned, energetic when there is nothing much to do, and very punctual about going home.

Although the old post office site is not to be sold for some months yet (according to one report) the terms of sale, according to another) have been seen by some. We want to see them, to make sure that the Government does not concede privileges to a private owner to concede; and to find out if any provision is made for a necessary street widening there.

Acres of healthy pineapples, looking pineapples may be seen on the spur of hills east of Chinman Bay, back of Seetoon. We want to congratulate somebody on the enterprise. Who is it?

A smart snatcher is new in jail doing six months' hard labour. He snatched a gold mounted rattan bangle from a little girl and ran. He was caught and searched, but nothing was found in his pockets. The girl's father ran his hand down the back of the snatcher's coat and found the bangle hidden in the lining. A cut had been made in this for the purpose of concealing small articles. Mr. R. O. Hutchison passed the sentence of imprisonment with twelve strokes of the birch in addition.

She did not know that the drug was concealed under the bowls, she would not have undertaken the job—$50 fine or one month's hard labour.

A comparative statement of the revenue and expenditure for the period ended December 31, 1919 shows that the actual revenue was $16,524,974.90, the estimated amount being $16,884,215. The revenue for 1918 was $18,665,248.41. The actual expenditure for 1919 was $17,915,925.36, the estimated expenditure being $14,577,896 and that for 1918 $16,252,171.87. There are six departments which show a decreased expenditure. The Colony's assets at December 31 last were $9,165,142.54 and the liabilities $4,874,354.64.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at No. 5 Leong Kee Terrace. The honeymoon is being spent at Macao; the couple staying at the residence of Sir Robert Ho-tung which has kindly been placed at their disposal, and afterwards they will go to Japan. The bride's going away dress was of gold floral crepe trimmed with pearls.

Following is a partial list of wedding presents: Bridegroom to the bride—Pearl and ruby necklace. Bride to the bridegroom—A set of diamond studs. Bride's father to the bride—A pair of diamond bracelets and diamond earrings. Bride's mother to the bride—Diamond ring and cheque. Bride's father to the bridegroom—cheque.

Numerous valuable presents were received from friends and relatives and practically all the prominent members of the Chinese community including the Hon. Mr. Lau Chu Pak the Hon. Mr. Ho Fook, Sir Robert Ho-tung and the following: The Chinese Chamber of Commerce, Hengshun Commercial Association, the Committee of the Tung Wah Hospital, and Po Leung Kok, the Directors of the Bank of Canton; the members of Chinese Club, and other Chinese firms of the Colony. Presents received from Canton included those from General Mok Wing Sun, the Military Governor of Kwanton, and General Ngai Bong Ping, the Chief Commissioner of Police.

SATURDAY NIGHT CONCERT.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ROOM.

Despite very trying conditions, due to the humid weather of Saturday night, Madame A. Silvestri, the Italian Prima Donna, rendered a very good programme of vocal selections. Madame Silvestri was in excellent voice and her performance was favourably commented upon by lovers of classical music present.

Signor Amelias favoured the audience with a very creditable performance on the mandoline, and Professor Danenberg, at the piano gave a finished performance. The audience was not a large one, but was thoroughly appreciative. Of course, the counter attractions in the great outdoors, in such weather as we are having at present, tend to injure any indoor entertainments, of whatever character and quality. There is talk of these artists rendering at least one open air programme; the Club de Recreio have been mentioned in connection with the idea. During such torrid weather as this, we believe the open air programme would attract many more people than an indoor performance.

SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITIONS.

GOVERNOR MAKES FLIGHT.

Repulse Bay held many attractions for the visitor on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, when, in addition to the admirable entertainment afforded by the hotel and the excellent bathing facilities, exhibitions of flying were given by the enterprising Macao Aerial Transport Co., under the able direction of Captain Ricou. The weather was glorious, and the conditions for flying ideal.

The first flight on Saturday afternoon was made with the H.S. 2 L., with Mr. Robert Yip and Miss K. L. Lin as passengers. Miss Lin, who was the first Chinese lady to fly in Hongkong, enjoyed her experience thoroughly. Others to make their first flight in the big machine were: Mr. H. B. L. Dowbiggin, Mrs. Hall, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Pearce, Mr. Guy Haywood, Miss Rosser, Messrs. D. Templeton and Capt. Leitch, Mr. T. O. Wilken and Miss Simmons, Sir Ellis Kadoorie and Mr. F. E. Joseph, Mr. A. W. Gibson and Mrs. Durr-schmidt, and Messrs. S. Y. Chan and Wong Siu Woon.

The two smaller machines, which were able to start from the shore, were also busy all the afternoon. Among those who went up were Messrs. D. K. Blair, J. W. Kew, W. E. Van Eps, R. P. Thurstield, Mrs. R. P. Thurstield, Mr. Wm. E. Arwater, Jr., Mr. M. R. de Journal, and Mr. Dunbar.

On Saturday afternoon H.E. the Governor, who arrived at Repulse Bay, attended by Captain McGrath, A.D.C., and accompanied by Mrs. Young and Miss Young, was welcomed by Captain Ricou and Mr. F. J. Gellion, the manager of the Company. His Excellency made a flight with Captain Ricou in the large machine and was in the air about half an hour. On his return to shore he expressed his thanks and congratulations to Captain Ricou.

Representatives of the Press, were accorded the privilege of a flight on Saturday afternoon.

A FIRST FLIGHT.

Clambering on to the body of the flying-boat from the sampan that has brought him the short distance from the crowded shore, the intending passenger moralises for a fleeting instant on the triumph of inventive genius and human endeavour that has made possible the step from the primitive craft of a past generation to the almost miraculous vehicle of a new era. Assisted by a pilot whose cheery confidence and assurance quell any misgivings that even the "airworthy" appearance of the machine has failed to remove, the passenger dons a close fitting cap affording special protection to the ears against the rush of wind. Goggles to protect the eyes are adjusted, and he sinks into the comfortable seat beside the pilot in the cosy body of the machine. The second passenger is already seated in the forefront of the machine, and the mechanic, dismounting shelter, seats himself at a point of vantage whence he can direct the pilot in ascending. The engine is started and soon the rhythmic whirr of the propeller grows into a steady, deafening roar as the machine races lightly along the calm surface of the bay. The thing rises so gracefully into the air, with so little effort, that the passenger is surprised on glancing over the side to find the sea rapidly dropping away from him below. The speed indicator turns shakily round until the machine, over a thousand feet above the sea, is rushing through the cool air at over eighty-five miles an hour—an astonishing speed that cannot be realised until a glimpse is caught of some immovable object, say the distant hotel now no larger than a miniature. Notwithstanding speed and height, both in themselves surely novel to the passenger making his first flight, there is a surprising sense of security that leaves him free to enjoy the wonderful sensation as the machine, like a bird on the wing, banks round in turning, or rolls easily like a ship on a gentle swell. Too soon, all too soon, the descent is commenced, and the machine swoops gracefully downward in a long incline, and lightly taking the water skims shorewards. Asked to describe the joy which is so potent that it strikes dumb, for a spell, the man who makes his first flight in an aeroplane, a pioneer aviator has written that the sensation is one of sheer exhilaration—a thrill so strong that it sends a catch to the breath and a momentary haze to the eye. This intoxicating sense of triumph—the wonder of our conquest of the air—dominates all else; yet mingling with it are emotions so complex that they elude analysis. And having made a first flight, one can only echo the words "Sheer exhilaration," and marvel at the wonderful sense of security, truthfully declare with emphasis that of fear there is no inkling. Indeed, those who made their first flights at Repulse Bay on Saturday afternoon and yesterday afternoon, rejoice over their experience.

On Sunday afternoon the flying was equally successful and no less enjoyable. Among those who made flights in the large machine were: Mr. T. Farman, Mrs. J. Baud, Mr. and Mrs.

A YEAR'S CRIME.

THE POLICE REPORT.

The report of the Captain Superintendent of Police has just come to hand. It states that the total number of cases reported to the Police during 1919 was 10,542 as against 8,449 in 1918, an increase of 2,093 or 24.77 per cent. The average of the last five years is 9,855.6 per cent. Cases of murder increased by 7, robbery by 26, burglary and larceny from dwellings by 23 and larceny by 606. The increase in what are classified as serious offences is 958. Thirty-one murders were reported during the year, in connection with 17 of these no arrest was made. In seven cases convictions were obtained (11 persons of whom 10 were convicted and one discharged). In seven cases there was no conviction (12 persons). Four manslaughter cases were reported, resulting in the conviction of one person, two others being discharged. Gang robberies show a big increase, from 43 to 70. In 49 cases no arrest was made. In sixteen cases convictions were obtained 133 persons charged, 31 convicted and 2 discharged. In five cases in which seven persons were concerned there were no convictions. Street and highway robberies and robberies on boats and junks show a decrease, but robberies with violence increased from five to eighteen. Convictions for the last named offence were obtained against two persons. Under the heading "Other offences" 275 cases are shown to have occurred, as compared with 201 in 1918. The number of cases in which convictions were obtained was 125 as against 73 in the previous year. The Police seem to have had a busy time with gamblers as 143 warrants were executed in 1919 and 87 in 1918. There were only three cases in which no conviction was obtained.

The report gives the estimated value of property stolen during the year as $370,719.17 as against $295,301.90 in 1918, an increase of $75,417.27. The average of the last five years is $283,715.37 an increase on the average reported in 1918 of $36,129.18. The value of property recovered was $36,089.51 as against $41,847.13 in 1918. No less than 4,250 scales and measures were examined, 101 being found incorrect. Convictions were obtained in all the 69 proceedings taken, the fines amounting to $849.50. Eight convictions were obtained under the dangerous goods ordinance, resulting in fines of $646. There were 2439 prosecutions under the Traffic Regulations, giving 2375 convictions. The beggars sent away from Hongkong were 616. During 1919 350 motor car drivers' licences were issued and 177 motor cycle drivers' licences. Motor cars licensed numbered 280 and motor cycles 177. In Hongkong 1,150 rickshaws were licensed and 800 chais. Dog licences issued reached a total of 2904. The conduct of the European contingent is reported to be good. One European Lance Sergeant was convicted at the Criminal Sessions for rape and one European police constable was convicted for misconduct. Both men were dismissed. The conduct of the Indians is given as good and of the Chinese as fair. Reports against seamen, cowboys, engineers and stevedores show a considerable falling off.

During the year 47 members of the Force returned to duty from active service.

TENNIS LEAGUE.

"A" DIVISION.

Hongkong Cricket Club "B" were at home to the Wigram players, when the visitors managed to secure the victory by the narrow margin of five games after a very interesting match. The scores were: Brund and Burns beat Dreyer and Mogensen 6-5; lost to Brown and Ralton 0-11; lost to Hicks and Wheeler 3-8. Grimble and Sewell beat Dreyer and Mogensen 7-4; beat Hicks and Wheeler 6-5; lost to Brown and Ralton 3-8. Battiscombe and Dinnsdale beat Dreyer 7-4; beat Brown and Ralton 8-3; beat Hicks and Wheeler 7-4.

J. A. Shaw, with his little son, Mrs. Dunbar and the two little sons of Mr. J. L. Crockett, the Hon. Mr. E. H. Sharp, Dr. J. H. Sanders, Mr. E. N. Lee, Mrs. Hobson, Mr. C. Edgcombe, Mrs. C. Rogers, Mrs. S. T. Baring, Mr. L. E. S. Hodge, and Mr. J. H. Teggart.

In one of the two small machines, both of which were busy all the afternoon, Mr. J. Kawakatsu, the first Japanese to fly in Hongkong, made his first flight. Among others who went up were Miss S. Nemazee, Miss Templeton, Miss Dalziel, Messrs. A. R. Austin, W. J. Morrison, P. W. Rowe, G. Miskin, A. Nemazee, H. Gibson, U. M. Omar, N. B. White, I. Kimura, K. L. Lap, Robert Yip, and Yu Shui Sueng.

Weather permitting, there will be another exhibition of flying at Repulse Bay on Sunday next, and if the success of the exhibitions on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, be any criterion, there should be an equally large attendance.

In his remarks on shipyard extension grants, Sir Henry Gibson deals

at some length with the subject of concrete ships. For the concrete vessels required by the Admiralty it was necessary to construct special yard, and grants were made up to 30 per cent. of the cost, with the proviso that after the war the yards

were to be re-valued, and an additional grant or a re-fund of grant made

according to whether, upon revaluation

each yard was found to be worth more or less than the first cost less the grant already paid. After the armistice, the programme of constructing concrete ships at a cost

which would compare favourably with that of steel ships, and in view of the difficulty of finding a market

for the concrete ships, if completed,

the Shipping Controller considered that the most economical course

would be to maintain the cancellation

of the contracts and to pay compensation to the contractors. This course involved the cancellation of the arrangements made for the shipyard grants, and it was eventually agreed to pay the difference between the actual first cost of the yards and the residual values thereof, as determined by the chief value of the Inland

Revenue Department. The actual

first cost has been agreed at £604,470,

and the residual value at £161,223, the charge to be borne by the Ministry of Shipping being £443,247, including the grants, amounting to £1-6

£117,914, already paid in 1918-19

under the approved schemes.

It was estimated that if the whole of the programme had been carried out the total loss to the State would have amounted to £4,127,000, and it is stated that under the arrangements

made the loss is reduced to about £2,500,000. The proposals of the Shipping Controller for the winding up of the scheme have received the approval of the Treasury.

THE MINISTRY OF SHIPPING.

DEFICIT OF OVER ONE HUNDRED MILLIONS.

Sir H. J. Gibson, Comptroller and Auditor-General, in his report on the Appropriation Account, 1918-19, for the Ministry of Shipping, points out that the expenditure shown in the account has exceeded the gross estimate by £55,465,020 18s. and the sum realised on account of Appropriations in Aid have fallen short of the amount estimated by £14,938,686, the total deficiency to be met from the Vote of Credit being therefore £100,403,706 18s.

The expenditure includes £3,884,945 5s. 9d. for shipbuilding abroad, for which final accounts have not been received, making the total expenditure on this service during the financial year 1918-19 still awaiting settlement £25,740,008 5s. 1d. The report mentions that in recognition of the

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ASSOCIATION.

The Report of the Committee to be presented at the Fifth Ordinary Meeting of Members on Thursday reads: The Committee beg to submit to the Members their Report and the annexed Statement of Accounts for the past three years. As the result of a severe earthquake shock on the 13th February, 1918, the old College building had to be demolished and no meetings of the Association were held in 1918 and 1919. The Rev. Bro. Director was fortunate in being able to secure the former Club Germania which was however too small for the needs of the Staff and the increased number of pupils. Nine new class rooms are now in course of erection and Bro. Aimar has very kindly offered the use of a room for our meetings.

MEMBERSHIP.

The membership now totals one hundred and twenty-eight, ten of whom are honorary members.

ACCOUNTS.

From the annexed Statement of Accounts, it will be seen that there is a net Credit balance of $764.58 being $252.47 more than the amount brought forward on the 1st January, 1917.

COMMITTEE.

The following gentlemen were elected at the Fourth Ordinary Meeting held on the 12th February, 1917.—Mr. H. Dixon (President), Mr. F. E. Carvalho (Vice-President), Mr. J. P. Braga (Hon. Secretary), Mr.

J. P. Xavier (Hon. Treasurer), Messrs. M. Fernandez, E. J. Noronha, J. M. Noronha, J. C. V. Ribeiro, V. F. V. Ribeiro, J. M. Rocha, and G. A. Yvanovich, Jr. Pursuant to Rule 5 (ii) of the Association, the Committee now retire, and having already served for several years, they hope that some of the younger members would join the Committee.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

Two annual scholarships of $18 each, known as Bro. Peter's Memorial Scholarships, and four of $9 each known as the Old Boy's Scholarships, were presented by the Association.

ATHLETIC MEETINGS.

The Committee were invited by the Rev. Bro. Director to take charge of the arrangements for the Annual Athletic Meetings of the College which were held at the Race Course, by kind permission of the Hongkong Jockey Club. Members of the Association were "At Home" on these occasions to parents of scholars and friends of the College, and the Association presented at each meeting a miniature of the Challenge Cup given by the members in 1915 for competition in the Senior Division.

EMPIRE DAY.

Special prizes were offered by the Association for the Empire Day essay competition held annually and addresses on the Empire Movement were delivered in the class-rooms by various teachers.

"AT HOME."

It has been decided to hold an "At Home" at the College this year on the 10th June, at 7 p.m., instead of

WHERE WILL HE LAND.

If Captain R. S. Carroll A.F.C. decides to fly from Selangor to Singapore he will get a very unpleasant surprise when he arrives here for we understand that he will not be allowed to alight on the Racecourse, the only recognised, in fact the only place where an aeroplane can land. This unexpected development is likely to give rise to very mixed feelings among the community of Singapore. No doubt one can understand that when an aeroplane does land on the racecourse it interferes with those playing golf, inasmuch as a few bunkers have to be dispensed with.

A prominent official of the Sporting Club definitely informed our representative that Captain Carroll would not be allowed to land on the Racecourse. Had the flight anything to do with the encouragement of sport, it would have been a different thing but they put the present aeroplane flight down as for purely advertising purposes. As a matter of fact the Official in question said that Captain Carroll would not come to Singapore.—Singapore Free Press.

AWAKENING OF
WOMEN.NEED OF FASCINATION AND CHARM IN COMMONS.

The most remarkable feature of the National Conference of Labour Women, which opened at the Memorial Hall, Farringdon Street, recently was its revelation of the rapid awakening of the working women of England to a sense of their responsibility.

The gathering represented the views of every class of woman worker—the working man's wife as well as the factory hand and the clerk. The 400 delegates had come from all parts of Britain—from the West of England to the industrial towns of the North of Scotland.

On the platform were many of the most prominent women in the country. Miss Mary MacArthur was in the chair, and there were Miss Margaret Bondfield, Dr. Marion Phillips, Miss Gertrude Luckwell and Mrs. Despard.

The breadth of view taken by the conference was again a remarkable feature. The sex point of view, so general at women's meetings, was conspicuously absent. The chief decision taken during the morning was that of pressing a demand for legislation prohibiting women from working six weeks before and six weeks after the birth of a child, and for granting them maintenance during that period, and free medical attendance.

The most brilliant speech of the day was made by that talented young official of the Workers' Union, Miss Maricom, who was prominent as an organiser of the Pearl Assurance workers.

Speaking on the Bill for extending the suffrage to women of 21, which is now before a Grand Committee of the House, she said: "Colonel Archer threw levelled adjectives at our heads captivately capricious, fascinatingly futile, incomprehensible, ingeniously inexplicable, charming, and so on. We are proud of them. If there were some charmingly incomprehensible women in the House no Whip would be able to depend on what they would say."

FASCINATING IN THE HOUSE.

"Fascinating women might even be of some use in the House, for members would be less likely to be found in the smoking-room during important debates."

The Government said that women of 21 had no stability and were frivolous. She had not been able to find that young men were less so. She had heard it said that a boy in a factory was always a boy, even when he was 21, but a girl was often a woman at 17 or 18. In the dancing rooms she had found girls frivolous, but each girl had a partner equally frivolous to dance with.

"We do not fear the vote of the frivolous girl," she concluded; "we welcome the advent of the girl of the ballot box."

Miss Stevens, another well-known Labour organiser, who is also a member of a Borough Council and a Board of Guardians, said women would never have been so capricious and so frivolous as to make the age of consent 16, and yet say that a woman was an infant until she was 30.

A Scottish delegate suggested that members of the Government probably thought that a woman of 30, if she were married, would be sufficiently crushed and subdued to have a vote.

A resolution supporting the extension of the franchise was carried unanimously.

Miss MacArthur, replying to a query as to the nature of the point of order which had held up the Bill, said that it was a specimen of slim tactics.

A resolution was passed urging women in industrial organisations to join the Labour Party, and avoid dissipating their energies in non-party political organisations.

A RALLYING CALL.

The keynote of the chairman's speech was a rallying call to the women of the country to join the Labour Party. The Prime Minister, she said, had described the Labour Party as the second party in the State. If that were so, she would like to know which was the first. "The Coalition," she said, "is a conglomeration of atoms, which sticks together because that is the only way that it can stick in place and power."

Mrs. Fawcett (York) complained that while women like Miss Margaret Bondfield and Miss Susan Lawrence, who were qualified to represent the working women of the country, failed to be returned to Parliament, "Lady Asor just came along with her jokes and smiles and in she went." That was because women voters did not understand the position.

FILM LASSITUDE.

Do Cinemas Induce Lassitude?

Do constant visits to cinemas induce lassitude? This question is provoked by the fact that some people complain that after a visit to "the pictures" a weary languid feeling takes possession of them, and that they are unable to do their work with the same vigour as before. The probable explanation is that the cinema is really a test of one's health. When a person is run-down or anemic, a visit to "the pictures" produces the symptoms mentioned. In such cases the hint should be taken promptly, and measures adopted for building up the health to normal.

Some interesting facts have been related concerning a young woman engaged in the film industry as "extra," and an exacting duty in the manufacture of films. To undertake this work necessitates an individual being in the best of health.

This is the view of Miss E. Leighton, of 58, Albany Street, Exeter's Park, London, who is employed as a film examiner by a London company.

Through suffering severely from lassitude and general debility she found her work difficult to carry on, and has been compelled at different periods to stay away from business. Now she has completely recovered, thanks to the curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"I never was strong as a child," she said in an interview. "When about 15 years of age I became very anemic, I was pale-faced and miserable; I took many different kinds of medicine but no good resulted. For a long time, and I found it almost impossible to cope with my work as a film examiner. I felt unhappy, helpless and irritable, work was a trouble, and I had to stay at home sick many times."

"I never wanted to sleep, or indeed to get up in the morning. Through the day I was always tired, and my limbs ached all day long. Time after time I was under the care of doctors, but they seemed unable to make me well."

"One day I feel a friend, who has suffered through the same suffering, and she told me of the wonderful benefit she had derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She advised me to try them at once. I purchased a supply and at the end of the first week I found myself improving in health. As I progressed with the pills my tiredness disappeared, my appetite became better, and in the mornings I got out of bed feeling quite fresh."

"I found my work less arduous during the day and at night I was able to sleep well."

"Now I feel ten times better than I did a little while ago. I feel quite a different woman altogether."

"I heartily recommend anyone suffering from general debility, anemic, and similar ailments to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; they are really wonderful."

If you are suffering from impoverished blood, you cannot afford to wait another day before giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Go to any dealer and obtain a supply, or send $1.00 for a bottle, $2.00 for 6, to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 98 Seaboard Road, Shanghai. The price includes postage.
